

RADIO BROADCAST

On February 25th, 1958, Laskay Institute was honored by being on a local Radio Broadcast at Richmond Hill, C.J.R.H.

During the Fall of 1957, and through 1958, ten minutes is allowed the Women's Institutes of York County, every Tuesday on the Farm and Home Show.

Mrs. Norman Etheridge, second-vice President of York Centre District and Mrs. Pearson Smeltzer, Historical Research Convener for Laskay were interviewed on compiling our History Book.

MY HOME IS MY CASTLE

Sometimes, when tired, I fret and stew
There seems too much for me to do.
The kitchen floor needs swept and scrubbed
The clothes and children, all need tubbed.
There seems to be excessive noise
From hungry little girls and boys
I think, if I could get away,
I'd have the grandest holiday.

We've all felt this way, more or less
When home affairs were in a mess.
But what's our first thought when we roam?
"If only I were safe at home!"
Within the wall of our abode
We find life's treasures, safely stowed.
Family, fun, joy-we can't explain-
Faith, love and comfort, when in pain.

This poem was written and read by Mrs. Mary Moore Scott in August, 1955, as an explanation of the motto - "My home is my castle".

ICE STORM OF 1959

Those who remember back 60 years to 1900 reminisce that an ice storm, much like this one, hit this district. Then of course it was just a case of throwing another log on the fire, keeping the lamps trimmed, and bright, while you kept indoors. Today with all our "live electrically" conveniences, most of us were much harder hit and uncomfortable in our modern age. How helpless we feel without the magic power to flick a button and produce light. With the candles twinkling, we miss our T.V., Radio and worry about the furnace, 'frig. being off', but it was to the hydro crew our deepest thoughts go out, what a night to be out on the road, much less working with high tension wires covered with an inch of ice.

As we do the doctor or the police, we count on the hydro men to respond to emergency calls immediately and how important they are to keep the wheels rolling, the cows milked and the house warm. A storm of ice and frozen rain that changes the land to shimmering glass; it was so appalling to see the trees so weighted down, and brought these once majestic trees down to freakish sight.

In this area and many others hydro was disrupted from late Sunday afternoon, December 27th, 1959 till December 30th. The telephone service was out for ten days.

It is unlikely any of these hundreds of crew men, a great many crews came from North Bay, Sudbury, Ottawa, Bancroft, Oakville, Milton, St. Catharines, Coburg and Brockville, enjoyed their New Years' weekend--some were still on the job, others on call--while those who had free time just wanted to sleep.

We thank them for their untiring and valorous efforts in bringing order out of chaos in such short order.

FAREWELL TO MR. CUMMINS, RETIRING MAILMAN.

Highlights of a dramatic past were recalled at Laskay Institute Hall on Friday evening, April 13, 1962, when 167 boxholders were given the opportunity to pay tribute to Ernest Cummins, who had given 38 years of continuous service on Rural Route 2, King City. From the horse and buggy days in 1924 when he started he graduated to the model T Ford and then to the more modern A. Many a time Mr. Cummins' cutter trail was the first marks on many a sideroad before snowplow days.

It was a friendly gathering and described as a "Gathering of the Clan"; and the highlight of the evening was when the honored guest was presented with a leather wallet, containing $455.00 in cash. This money will help finance a three month visit to his boyhood home in Hampshire, England. Mr. Cummins has not visited England since he came to Canada 49 years ago, 1913.

There were 17½ miles on the mail route in 1924 and at his retirement he covered 31½ miles daily. The salaries ranged from $700.00 to $2300.00. From 1924 to 1938 the mail was sorted at King P.O. and then carried in two locked bags to the rural P.O. Laskay and P.O. Strange; and then returning each outgoing mail in locked bags.

Mr. Cummins' two daughters and two sons and one grandson attended the occasion, one daughter sent her regrets. Local entertainment was provided, followed by refreshments.

Responsible for the event were Deputy-Reeve Norman MacMurchy, Donald Barker and Ronald Fraser, all of 6th Concession, King.

LITTLE RED SCHOOLHOUSE

The little red schoolhouse, a vestige of pioneer days in Ontario, is slowly vanishing. Since 1945 when there were over 5000 such schoolhouses in Ontario, they have been diminishing at the rate of about 100 a year, squeezed out by the swelling demand for bigger and better facilities.

As rural population grows, township school areas are formed and two or more school boards combine to build a new school on a new location or add to one already in existence. Bus services are inaugurated to carry children from distant points. Instead of taking lessons in one room in groups of 30 or more, children are separated according to age and grade into classrooms in new spacious buildings.

In January, 1965, school areas became compulsory in Ontario, and King Township elected a five man schoolboard. In September, 1965, children who maybe lived next door to the school were transported to another school. At Strange school grades 1, 2 and 3 are taught to children who come from New Scotland, Kinghorn and Strange areas. At Kinghorn school grades 4 to 8 are taught to children.

In September a new Senior public school will be opened in King City across from high school to serve abt 7 and 8 grades from King Township. Since 1965 the Strange school built in 1942 has been used as offices for King Township area school board.

1967 - HIGHLIGHTS - ADELLA SMELTZER.

Canada's Centennial year got off to a fine start on Jan. 1, 1967. All across Canada great excitement and chivalry dominated right through until December 31. In the nation's capital, the Prime Minister lit the Centennial flame which was to burn throughout the year 1967, but so many requests have been made to keep the gas jet burning, it will be kept burning as an eternal flame.

The greatest celebration of all was the more than successful Expo 67, "Man and his world", created on a man-made island in the St. Lawrence River. Fifty million people attended the site when fifty nations participated.

People travelled to Montreal in many unique ways but the most outstanding trip was the voyageurs by canoe from Peace River District to Expo in 104 days at an average of over 30 miles a day.

Many of the older public school children in our area were privileged to attend expo as well as many grown ups, including nine members from Laskay W.I., Marjorie MacMurchy having participated in the singing group of York Choralers.

Mention should be made of Bobby Gimby and his trumpet who led children in all parts of Canada in his marching song "Ca-na-da" and made his final exit at the closing exercises in Ottawa, Dec. 31, 1967.

The highlight of Manitoba's celebration was that they had the honour to hold the Pan American games in Winnipeg in Centennial Year.

Canada lost two loved and respected Governor-Generals; In 1967 the Acting Governor-General George Vanier and a past and first native born Governor-General, Vincent Massey.

Major Lex MacKenzie, a veteran and well-known, well respected M.P.P. and local historian retired from Parliament in 1967.

In Centennial year 20,000 irate farmers demanded a better deal for Agriculture and invaded Ottawa by tractor. It was the largest gathering by far of any type on Parliament Hill. Marching eight abreast the column took more than an hour to enter the vast grass covered square. Ottawa was host to some 60 dignitaries from other countries, including members of the Royal Family, most of whom visited Expo. Prince Philip made three official visits in '67 to Canada.

The confederation train and caravan journeyed across Canada to tell the Canadian story with the aid of life size models, sound effects, lightning artifacts and photography.

It was an interesting fact that a women helped plan and keep Centennial year colourful in none other than the Secretary of State, Judy LaMarsh. For this district the most talked about and certainly the most enjoyed social event which so many local people attended was the Centennial Chicken barbecue held in King City Park, June 30th. Many local organizations worked on this project, the new addition to the park. Over 2000 people (more than the entire population of the village) attended and consumed a ton of chicken.

When the heavy rain came after the dancing started, you either had to jam into the park barn, your car or go home. Many stayed and braved the elements to watch the midnight fireworks and heard the church bells ring in Canada's birthday.

The Laskay Women Institute held a Centennial Ball in Laskay Hall in September; several former residents came to this re-union dance and many who didn't, wished they had; a friendly and social time was enjoyed by all.

Nobleton village sponsored a mile long parade and Dominion Day Celebration. The original Baldwin farm in Lot 3, Laskay was in the news highlights twice this year, first in Feb. and March when cameras began filming a colour Movie, "The Fox", first written in book form by D.H. Lawrence. Starring in the movie are Anne Heywood, Sandy Dennis and Keir Dullea. In July the Aurora Banner published the history of the Baldwin family and mills at Aurora; they told of the family origin and first mills at Laskay on Lot 3.

Laskay United Church for the first time in it's history acquired a morning service after many years of an afternoon hour of worship, and were sorry to lose their beloved pastor of 22 years, Rev. M. Jenkinson to another charge.

Three new houses have been erected in the Laskay area this year as well as an addition to the old Forge, some beams from the West barn on W. Finch's farm were used in the "Old Forge" addition. They have been carefully finished and are in the open ceiling.

Two well-known local couples have celebrated 50 year wedding anniversaries in 1967, Sir Ellsworth and Lady Flavelle and Mr. and Mrs. James Baxter, both of the 7th concession.

The Ontario Junior Farmers had a centennial project which gave the owners of centennial farms a plaque to be placed at their gateway. Three of these awards were displayed by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gillies, Lot 15, King, Mrs. and Mrs. Ross Foliott, Lot 11, King, Mr. and Mrs. James Finch, Lot 1.

Sheila Dennett, a Laskay student topped the Ontario Scholar group in Centennial year at King City Secondary school.

Some local travellers in '67, Don Barker, by air, (accompanied by a group of men from Woodbridge when they spent 10 days in January in Ecuador, S.A. Mr. and Mrs. N. MacMurchy had a two weeks vacation in Bermuda and Antigua. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dooks motored to the east coast accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. F. Campbell. Two historical happenings took place in the ridges of King and Hacketts Lake. Colonel and Mrs. J.F.K. Strathy, Lot 13, con. 6, were host and hostess to Royalty, Her Royal Highness, Princess Alexandra and her husband, Hon. Angus Ogilvy, while the Princess (whom the Colonel had known for some time) was visiting in Canada and making a cross-country tour, in which she and her husband were widely acclaimed as Jolly good fellows.

Secondly in July a group of senior boys from Richi^udooca camp at Kettleby hiked the eight miles to the old Carrying place, the portage from Humber to Holland River, with the use of modern topographic maps and compasses, the tribe headed north from Kelly Lake near the 7th concession. In the first one-quarter mile they climbed over 100 feet, one fine example of the mountains. Much was learned about the history, geography and geology of the region.

The Humane Society held a country home tour which included the old Stone Church at Strange, the McClelland and Strathy houses on lots 12-13 and lots 2-3 seventh concession.

Local history was made at Lloydtown school, a century old S.S. #15, when it re-opened its doors to the eager youngsters of the 20th century. The school was created for the teaching of natural science, history and geography. Hundreds of King Township school children came through the year to see many items of historical interest and learn their history and how they were used. At the opening of this township area school Board centennial Project, even the weather duplicated a 19th century condition when snow banks were a hindrance to the ladies attending in 1867 styles with the long skirts.

Another Centennial display worth mention was the nine day antique display shown at Vanderf in Whitechurch township, when an estimated 2000 people visited the antique show "Through the Years."

Some of our members were guests of Schomburg and Nobleton Institutes when they had antique displays. At a Centennial closing party at Ottawa where more than 5000 people braved the elements on a cold wintry night, the Governor-General, Roland Michener, described the Centennial Celebrations as a "Watershed in Canadian History". Like the explorer of old Canada was crossing a great height of land dividing the past from the future, "Having paused in 1967, Canada is now refreshed and ready to resume its journey. To-morrow is a day of new departure, a moment of choice and destiny."

1968 - Leskay students attending University or other schools were.

Ian, Mary and Sheila Dennett - Kitchener-Waterloo University.

Beverley Hunter, Wellington College, Guelph; Janet Stubbs - York University-Toronto. Lars Eif, Royal Roads College, B.C.; Beth Cairns, nurse-in-training, St. Joseph's Hospital, Toronto; Kirsten Eif, nurse-in-training at Wellesley Hospital, Toronto.

THE BRUCE TRAIL

Colour and Time — how do you equate them? Nature does, and in the grand manner — the brightening greens of spring, the warming yellows of summer — the ripening reds of fall — and nowhere more grandly than along the Bruce Trail!

A project of The Federation of Ontario Naturalists, aided by the generosity of individuals, land owners, service clubs and government agencies, "The Trail" is a conscious effort to preserve for Ontario a three hundred mile long "green belt" through the industrial and agricultural heart land of the Province.

A foot path and nature trail following the crest of the Niagara Escarpment from Queenston in the South, to Tobermory in the North, The Bruce Trail forms a natural haven and retreat for those who would escape completely the hurrying confusions of our contemporary world. Here the family may relax; here the adventurous may know again the warmth and camaraderie of a campfire under the stars, or here the quiet ones may be at peace to examine their thoughts and the world around them; and here too may the artist fill his brush to capture the majesty of rushing waters, the magnificence of rolling hills and the calm coolness of the woodlands of this Ontario of ours!

We salute the Federation of Ontario Naturalists and those who would help them in this imaginative and exciting project.
